THURSDAY, NOV. 1911.

That war must go on seems to be the verdict of many of the great thinkers of the present time.

It is urged that the needless carnage occasioned by it could be avoided by an international Court of Arbitration. We believe this to be true and think it will stamp the age in which such a court is established and of the end with proper authority, as greater than any of the present ones.

The loss of life in some wars, such as are occasioned by offended dignity, and excited national passion, might be termed manslaughter, has too often in the cold blooded murder, as where war is deliberately planned in cold blood for the purpose of conquest. We pass laws for the prevention of crime by individuals, and when the civilized nations have formed a court for the prevention of national crimes it will be the greatest triumph the world has ever seen.

In another column of this issue appears the notice that the Hon. John W. Lewis and W. O. McChord will address the citizens of Washington county on the subject of good roads on County Court Day in this month, which is next Monday.

This is a subject of vital importance to every person in the county whether he is in favor of bettering the roads or not. At this meeting measures will be proposed, which it behooves all to hear, so when the matter comes up for a vote, they will know what is proposed to be done. The plan is now in its initial stage, and it is well for all to become acquainted with it in its beginning.

Letter From A Jurymen

The following letter, signed "Jurymen" was received at our office last week:

Mr. Editor:

There is a complaint general among jurymen who have served as such in the different terms of Circuit Court for one time past, that their verdicts as returned in court in the various Commonwealth cases are never carried out. Especially is this true in cases where jail sentences are reported: We are not aware of any failure on the part of the officers of the Court to collect the fines, but imprisonment in a majority of cases is a thing of the past or else to be applied only in cases of ignorant negroes. Has anyone except the Governor a right to set aside the verdict of a jury? If so we would like to have you publish the law bearing on the subject for the information of a large number of our readers.

It seems a farce to bring before the court for several weeks 24 jurors on the pay roll of the State, and then find their verdict set aside by some one and never carried out.

If there is a law for this procedure it would be well to bring it to the attention of our next legislature and try to have some modification of such a law. If no law for that exists then steps will be taken at the next Circuit Court to look into the matter and have the blame placed where it belongs.

We all know perfectly well that the average chronic law-breaker carries very little for the small fine or even a moderately large one, but he balks at confinement in jail. If this influence is to be removed, then let us do away with our jails.

Planter's Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse

Tandy Quisenberry, Proprietor

SPRINGFIELD, KY., October 24, 1911.

DRAGS:

At this writing the full crop of tobacco grown in Washington, Nelson and adjoining counties is practically all out and housed. The tobacco cut and housed early, in our opinion, will show a good crop of fine, useful tobacco, with good color, while the later cutting, we think, will show a considerable amount of damaged tobacco. This, however, depends upon the curing season from now on. We look for a good strong market this season as all grades of good, useful tobacco, and especially the good grades, are in great demand. We are careful in sorting our tobacco, keeping every grade to itself. We urge special attention to the sorting of your curly tobacco. We believe by sorting your tobacco carefully, that it is the only way to obtain its full market value.

We would advise you to hang your different grades on the stick as you strip it, and bulk the same on stick, and when you are ready to market it, be sure to bring it to us on the stick, and in this way you are ready to be sure to bring it to us on the stick, and in this way you do not damage the tobacco by "kneeling" it. In your own best interest, by bringing it to us on the stick, you do not lose any weight; only do any damage to the tobacco.

We are here to take care of friends, (both buyer and seller) and we would advise you to sell your tobacco on the open market, where you get full consideration of all the buying element. This is the only way to get the full value of your tobacco.

Above we have endeavored to tell you in our humble way what to do with your tobacco, while in your possession, now when your tobacco reaches our house, we promise to do everything in our power in grading and arranging your tobacco for sale, to get you full market prices. We will have thorough tobacco men connected with us in this sense, the more men, in fact, who will add strict attention to your tobacco last year.

We hope to be favored with your business this season, promising if it is our personal attention. Our house with its added improvements, is located in town near the depot, where we will be glad to see you at any time.

We hope to be able to open sales December 1st.

Yours Truly,

TANDY QUISENBERRY

"Certainly, but—"

"There was no 'but,' Captain Wynn, only do as I tell you."

"Our eyes met for an instant; what was I to do?"

"My determination, with a daring and a dash."

"The General laughed good-naturedly, evidently pleased with my assumption of military knowledge."

"Colonel Curran is waiting for you."

"My determination has plainly found so much support."

"The word is all right, Miss," turned the Federal, solemnly, yet without lowering his obstructing gun. "We cannot pass any one out on the counterside alone. If you was going the other way it would answer."

"That is not a retort," I said.

"You are half," she urged anxiously, "are one way to Major Benson."
